

THE IWA REPORT

Volume 31, Number 9 • June 2026

* Still to come are the number of times wrestlers/managers retained titles.

Johnny B Says

The previous major title play-offs saw manager R. Routh win 10 free matches for all VVL players by keeping the Women's World Championship in their league. The latest results have him bringing home the men's counterpart and securing 10 free matches for all WEW managers! It's impressive how many players have returned to the game after an extremely extended hiatus and gone right back to collecting majors.

WEW managers should submit their freebies for the upcoming August cycle, which begins on July 27th, and everyone should be on the lookout for the Specialty Championships sign-up sheet that same cycle!

One last note: you're probably mispronouncing the reigning King of the Ring's name, but that's because it's an inside joke. Manager Joshua "Height" filled us in on his preferred pronunciation way back in 2002, and his champion's name is a clever play on the nickname of a running back from a defunct American football league with a pro wrestling connection and IWA-like initials. He Haight Me also wore the King of the Ring crown in the Dog Days 2024 cycle, and that's no joke!

Hall of Fame Inductees — engraved plaque

Chuck Zietlow of Minnesota
BURN: The Bad Man (BBL)
1,041-153-16, *30, $1,799,500

~TZ~ of Virginia
Æ: Apollo (RTL)
182-147-17, *50, $723,400
Æ: Genechiro Teriyaki (BRL)
354-226-48, *51, $726,100
Æ: Razzle Dazzle (BRL)
350-263-71, *53, $1,007,800
Æ: Fab Dazzle (BRL)
384-206-62, *50, $892,000
Another set of wrestlers under the care of manager ~TZ~ has decided to hang up the imaginary boots this cycle and claim their spots in the IWA Hall of Fame by way of having earned 50 stars each.

First up is Apollo, who, during his time, managed to win three IWA-wide regionals and a U.S. Six-man strap. Next is Genechiro Teriyaki, who, during his career, was part of three World Six-man Championship teams.

Joining them are the final two first-generation members of the Dazzle family: Fab and Razzle Dazzle. Together, this pair won the World Tag-team titles (along with three rankings), the World Six-man titles, and the U.S. Six-man titles. Razzle also managed another World Six-man title, and once enjoyed a brief stint as the ASL ICON TV Champion. After years of entertaining fans by dazzling them with all their great moves, they now join their brothers, Ultra and Mega Dazzle, who retired into the Hall of Fame in recent years.

Caleb Crawdad of Florida
COT: Brutal Brian Welch (BRL)
1,052-319-67, *40, $2,527,600
Since his debut in the Loaded Gun League in the Spring 1999 cycle, Brutal Brian Welch has been the "top guy" for manager Caleb Crawdad. Having completed his final contract in the IWA's greatest league and proving he is still a top performer, BBW is hanging up the boots to focus on his rapidly expanding empire of "Brutality" gyms, health products, and the opening of his new Brutality Wrestling Academy.

Michael Drake of New Jersey
